

ST. DAVID'S SCHOOL

ACADEMIC SUPPORT PROGRAM LEARNING SPECIALIST

St. David's School is currently seeking a learning specialist. The role involves partnering individually with students and instructing the faculty in evidenced based practices to assist with student interventions. The ideal candidate will be a talented, energetic professional who will inspire young students with diverse learning needs and meet these needs using multiple modalities and an understanding of their individual strengths and weaknesses.

A Master's degree with specialization in Special Education and a minimum of three-years of experience is desired. Also, certification in Wilson Reading, experience with progress monitoring tools like DIBELS and familiarity with special screening tools (e.g. GORT, Brigance, etc.) are preferred.

The candidate will embrace fully the school's mission, philosophy, and traditions. Salary and benefits are competitive, and the work environment is collegial. The schedule/hours for this role are currently under review. All candidates are encouraged to visit the St. David's School website, stdavidsraleigh.org, to learn more about the mission and vision of the school and to download our Employment Application and Questionnaire.
